PAINTINGS GUEST JUDGE

James White

We are honoured to welcome James White, a celebrated artist with deep roots in our region and a long-standing connection to the Currabubula Art Show, as our guest judge for the painting category in 2025.

Born in 1946 and raised on the family farm near Boggabri in northern NSW, James discovered his love for art during his school years, first at the local bush school and later at The Armidale School. Under Fred Roberts' guidance, it was there that his artistic journey began to flourish.

In 1964, just after finishing school, James won the watercolour prize at the Currabubula Art Show – a milestone that encouraged him to continue painting. He went on to win the same prize another six times in the years that followed, becoming a familiar and admired name among art show supporters and entrants alike.

Following several years of travelling and painting overseas, James returned to the family property near Boggabri. Influenced by local artist Rupert Richardson – who would later become a Member of the Australian Watercolour Institute – James embraced watercolour as his preferred medium.

Known for his use of strong, clean colours and luminous light, James draws inspiration from memory, his travels, and the rural landscapes of northern NSW. His work often tells a story – sometimes with a playful or humorous twist – making it both distinctive and deeply engaging.

We are delighted to welcome James White back to Currabubula – not as a competitor this time, but as our esteemed guest judge for 2025.

Guest Judge – Kate Rutter, Cartoonist

G'day, my name is Kate and I'm a cartoonist from NSW, Australia!

Cartoons have always felt like home to me, I'm influenced by Australian rural life, farming, animals and beautiful memories of time spent with my grandfather on the farm.

I love every chance to create art in my style. I have illustrated concepts, album art, books, original paintings, murals, commission portraits & posters!

My art is bright, colourful, and mostly digital, but I do create a few of my own drawings and paintings that I enjoy entering in local art shows.

Guest Judge – Paul Mathews

Paul Mathews began his photography career in 1973 with a cadetship at the Northern Daily Leader. He won a Walkley Award for his iconic image of Sir John Kerr at the 1976 Tamworth Show and went on to work with leading newspapers, including The Sun (London), Newcastle Herald, and The Sydney Morning Herald, where he spent ten years as Senior Photographer.

Twice named Australian Photographer of the Year, Paul has covered major events worldwide, including four Olympic Games. He also served as Photo Manager at the Sydney, Athens, and Beijing Olympics.

Now retired and based in Gunnedah, Paul continues to support the photography community through workshops and mentoring.
